

Senator Wicks Has Accepted Amendments

Senator Wicks called upon Judge Waterbury Monday and after an extended conference, accepted the amendments to the bill introduced by him in the Senate permitting the city of New York to divert the waters of the Rondout, the Delaware and the Neversink, which amendments suggested by the Judge, were printed in Monday evening's issue of The Freeman, and agreed to incorporate them together with the amendments suggested by the Judge for the protection of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation and the New York Power and Light Corporation and to endeavor to secure the passage of his amended bill by the Legislature.

It is not needed that The Freeman should say that the people of New York, Delaware, Sullivan and Orange counties affected by the diversion of the waters of the Rondout, the Delaware and the Neversink greatly are to be congratulated upon this happy solution of the situation. It is none too often that great public utilities corporations are willing to take up and promote public interests not immediately involved in their own activities, but the conclusion of this matter demonstrates that there are exceptions to the general rule, and that we have one of them with us.

KINGSTON MEN DISGRACEFULLY JAILED AT CATSKILL.

James Bradley, 26, and John Hutton, 22, of this city are in the Greene County jail at Catskill because they packed $25 fines imposed by Police Justice Morrison before whom they were arraigned last Friday on charges of disorderly conduct. Both under the influence of intoxicants were arrested Friday midnight by Officer James Fitzsimmons.

It is said that other charges are pending against these two, who had been around Catskill previously to their arrest, soliciting subscriptions for some magazine. It is alleged that one of them went into a store and said the daughter of a the proprietor had sent him there to collect a year's subscription. A clerk paid the money and it was ascertained later that the young lady had not made any such request.

Another woman is reported to have given one of the young men a subscription to a magazine several months ago, and has not yet received a copy of the publication.

Pittsburgh, Mar. 6 (P).—The Bertha Consumers Coal Company went into the hands of receivers yesterday, it was learned here today. John H. Jones, president of the concern, and Fred E. Powers, a member of the board of directors, were named receivers.

Labor Told to Support Smith

Because of His Interest in Labor Legislation During His Career—First Outright Move Made in Albany.

Albany, N. Y., Mar. 6 (P).—Organized labor has been called upon by the executive council of the New York State Federation of Labor to support Governor Smith for the Democratic presidential nomination. A resolution embodying this endorsement because of the interest the Governor has taken in labor legislation during his career as legislator and executive, was adopted at a meeting of the council yesterday.

"He has constantly and consistently originated, promoted and administered laws for the betterment and protection of the wage earners of our state," the resolution said. "He has supplemented these protective labor laws by humanitarian and progressive legislation which is a model for other states of the union to follow and which has resulted in great benefits to the whole people of the Empire State, and he has demonstrated in all of the public stations he has occupied an exceptional administrative ability that has earned the praise of all classes of our citizenship and ranks him as a statesman without a peer."

In addition to being the first pronouncement of organized labor in New York state on the presidential question, the resolution also marked the first outright move made in Albany in favor of Governor Smith for president. He has facetiously been "nominated" several times by speakers at various public functions, but no other organization had formally adopted a resolution calling upon its membership to support him. The Governor himself has remained silent on the subject despite repeated attempts to force him to express an opinion which might shed some light on his reputed presidential aspirations. He has read "with interest" all the news dispatches regarding nomination of his name as a presidential possibility, but even from his closest friends he has withheld direct comment.

Life Term for Hammer Slayer

Velma West, Hammer Slayer of Her Young Husband, Pleads Guilty to Second Degree Murder and Gets Imprisonment.

Painesville, Ohio, March 6 (P).—Velma West, 21-year-old hammer slayer of her young husband, Thomas Edward West, was sentenced to life imprisonment in Marysville reformatory today after she pleaded guilty to second degree murder.

The girl received her sentence in tears. She slumped into her chair after brief remarks by Common Pleas Judge J. D. Barnes. Her father, B. L. Vanvoert of Cleveland, rushed to her side. Velma's mother was not in court to hear the sentence.

"When court was convened Judge Barnes asked if an agreement had been reached between counsel. Defense Attorney Francis W. Poulson informed the court that Velma was willing to plead guilty to second degree murder, thus obviating the necessity of a standing trial on a first degree charge.

Prosecutor Seth Paulin then told Judge Barnes the state had thoroughly considered the plea and had agreed to accept it.

"I understand your counsel has agreed to enter a plea of guilty to second degree murder," said Judge Barnes, addressing the defendant. "Is that so?"

"Yes sir," replied Velma in a scarcely audible tone.

"Having entered such a plea, the law requires that I ask you if you have anything to say as to why sentence should not be imposed," said the judge.

The girl replied that she had nothing to say.

Little Hope of Averting Strike

New York, March 6 (P).—Hope of averting a transit strike in New York city appeared dim today as union employees of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company prepared for the taking of a strike vote tonight in event the company should reject their offer of arbitration.

Mayor James J. Walker today awaited the company's reply to the offer of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees to submit to the mayor or the transit commission the cases of the twenty-one Amalgamated members who were dropped by the company and which forms the hub of the controversy.

The company contends the men were dismissed because of unbecoming conduct which included the use of vile language to members of the company brotherhood who refused to join the Amalgamated. The company had offered to have their cases reviewed by its legal department, but this the Amalgamated rejected.

Woman Charged Lindy Returns With Setting Her House on Fire

Mrs. Antoinette Knaul Hook Arrested by Sergeant Simpson on Warrant Sworn Out by Fire Chief Murphy Charging Arson—Attempted to Third Avenue Fire.

Mrs. Antoinette Knaul Hook, 45, of 21 Third avenue, was placed under arrest this morning by Sergeant James V. Simpson on a warrant sworn out by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy charging Mrs. Hook with arson in the third degree in setting fire to her house early Saturday morning, March 3. Later in police court a plea of not guilty was entered for Mrs. Hook and she was held to await the action of the grand jury by Judge Shufeldt.

Mrs. Hook resides with her eleven year old daughter in a two story frame house at 21 Third avenue, and works in one of the local cigar factories, Saturday morning about 3 o'clock the fire department was called out by an alarm from Box 46. Fire had broken out in the rear of the house and did considerable damage before it was brought under control by the firemen.

Fire Chief Murphy, who directed the work of the fire fighters, made an investigation which led him to telephone police headquarters and Sergeant Simpson went to the house and he and the fire chief made a further investigation which resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Hook.

According to the police, several piles of kindling soaked with kerosene oil were found on both the first and second floors of the house and there was every indication that the fire was of incendiary origin. Mrs. Hook was taken to police headquarters where she was closely questioned by the sergeant and the fire chief, and the result of the questioning was the issuing of the warrant.

As far as known Mrs. Hook is the first woman to be arrested in Kingston on an arson charge.

REDS THREATENING TO ADVANCE ON CANTON.

Canton, March 6 (P).—Acute communistic activities have broken out in the East river district to the east of Canton and today the Reds were threatening to advance on Canton.

The Canton government recalled 25,000 troops from Kwelin, in the old Capital of Kwangsi province, where they had gone to protect that city from Communists. These troops were rushed to the east to meet the Reds, who boast that they will be in Canton again within a month.

The government forces outnumber the Communists but the latter are well organized and their spies make government operations difficult.

Quick Return Comes As A Surprise To Bolling Field Official—Enlists Friends In Effort to Return to Private Life.

Washington, Mar. 6 (P).—War department officials said today that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh had landed at Bolling Field at 6:30 o'clock this morning, but that they had no knowledge of his plans here.

Bolling Field officials said Lindbergh's return so soon after his trip yesterday to St. Louis came as a surprise and caught most of them in bed.

He left his plane as soon as he reached here and went to a club for rest.

Scott Field, Bellville, Ill., Mar. 6 (P).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who with four companions landed here last night after completing a trip through a number of eastern cities, has enlisted his friends in his efforts to evade publicity and to return to private life.

Attracted by the excellent lighting facilities of the field here, Lindbergh brought the cabin monoplane down and spent the night at the army post while his companions went on to St. Louis. As Lambert-St. Louis field has few lighting facilities for night landing, Lindbergh decided to take no chances there.

Major William Robertson, one of the party and one of Lindbergh's close friends, said today he did not know what Lindbergh planned to do.

"Jim asked us not to tell what we know of his future plans," Major Robertson said. "He said he wants to just retire from the public eye for a while and not be bothered."

"He wants to rest and asked us as friends to try and see that he is left alone, and we feel that he is entitled to that much consideration. He has had a hard grind of it."

Nothing of great consequence was done in a business way on the trip, Major Robertson said. The flight was made purely for pleasure.

The estimate on the present day value of the wet goods was placed at $100,000.

Verdict Stands in Malpractice Case; Extra Allowance

Judge Russell Denies Motion to Set Aside Verdict Favoring Gust Gunther—Granted an Extra Allowance of 5 Per Cent.

Judge Pierce H. Russell, who presided at the December term of supreme court when the malpractice action against Dr. H. W. Gifford brought by Gust Gunther of the town of Saugerties was tried, has decided a motion made by defendant's attorney to set aside the verdict and also a motion by plaintiff's attorney for an extra allowance of 5 per cent.

Judge Russell denies the motion to set aside the verdict, and grants the motion for an extra allowance.

The action was brought by Gust Gunther for loss of a leg which he contended was due to carelessness and neglect on the part of Dr. Gifford of Saugerties. The leg was amputated following blood poisoning which set in following an injury with an axe.

A verdict in the sum of $5,000 was returned by the jury in the action, which was brought to recover $25,000. H. H. Fleming, who appeared for Dr. Gifford, moved to set aside the verdict on the ground that it was contrary to the law and the evidence. Decision was reserved and Judge Amos Ven Etten, who appeared with Judge William D. Cunningham for the plaintiff, asked for an extra allowance of 5 per cent on the verdict that the case was extraordinary and difficult and involved the expense of a great deal of expert testimony.

In his memorandum which is brief Judge Russell says: "Motion to set aside the verdict is denied."

"In the court's opinion it was a difficult and extraordinary case and, therefore, the plaintiff should be granted an extra allowance of 5 per cent upon the verdict."

Further Efforts To Free Hapgoods

Pittston, Pa., March 6 (P).—Further efforts to obtain the release from jail of Powers Hapgood and his wife, charged with inciting to riot in connection with the Pittston mine feud, were expected to be made today.

Friends of the prisoners, whose romance blossomed during their activities in the Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations in Boston, and who were married in New York about two months ago, predicted that the American Civil Liberties Union or the Industrial Workers of the World would post the necessary bail to obtain their release. Both were said to be members of these organizations.

Hapgood, a Harvard graduate, and his wife, the former Mary Donovan, were arrested here Sunday for attempting to hold a meeting called by the "Save the Union Committee" in defiance of city and state authorities. John L. Lattin, of Pittston, was taken into custody at the same time, and on a similar charge. The meeting was called to plan for the defense of the alleged slayers of Alexander Campbell and Peter Reilly, two of the four men shot to death in the union warfare.

After a hearing before Mayor Gillespie, the three prisoners were held in $1,000 bail each, in default of which they were sent to the Luzerne county jail. Unless the bonds are posted or they obtain their release, on a writ of habeas corpus they will be held in prison until the April term of criminal court.

Hapgood holds a union card in the United Mine Workers and terms himself a "leader of the rank and file." Recently he had been working as a laborer in a Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre coal company colliery.

Red Terrorism Reported in China

March 6 (P).—Foreign dispatches from Swatow indicate an intensification of Communist terrorism in the country districts in northeast Kwang Tung. The wholesale exodus of the population toward Swatow and to the cities is estimated that there are 50,000 refugees in Swatow alone whose families are thronged with men, women and children facing misery, giving the city the appearance of the White Sea cities to which the White Russians fled after the Bolshevik revolution. All steamers going to Swatow and the Dutch Indies are crowded with refugees. The dispatches state that reliable information indicates that an entire town of several thousand inhabitants, mostly Roman Catholic, in the region of Hweiathien southeast of Swatow was exterminated by the Communists, the alleged reason being because they were Christians. The country districts near Swatow are believed to have been stricken the hardest, but other terrorism is reported from the southern and central provinces, the dispatches saying that the authorities were helpless or unwilling to cope with the situation. Thus far there has been no anti-foreign activity.

THINKS REPLY WILL NOT SATISFY LARGE MAJORITY

Editor of Kingston Daily Freeman: I read in a late edition of The Freeman an inquiry as to why the Savings Institutions of Kingston pay but four per cent. I also read Mr. Frederick J. R. Clarke's article in Friday evening's edition, no doubt intended as a reply to the inquiry. This reply, I think will not satisfy a large majority of the people of Kingston and Ulster county. I have had no banking experience, nor do I claim to be a financier, but as every one knows, when they find it necessary to discount a note or secure a loan on real estate they have to pay 5 1/2 to 6 per cent and that the bulk of the business of the banks is of this nature.

As Secretary of the Olive Co-operative Fire Insurance Association, which association has more than $50,000 of its surplus funds on deposit in the different savings banks and trust companies in the county, I have been making inquiries looking to a better return on our deposits. I learned that savings banks in Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Highland, Hudson, Albany and near by localities are all paying 4 1/2 per cent. Surely these are all subject to the same conditions of reinvestment as are the Kingston banks.

Also, I notice by the reports of these banks for 1927 they have never been in so flourishing condition. The savings banks are piling up surplus. The trust companies are making 30 to 50 per cent on the balance of their stock. There is a bank stock on the market. Bank shares are held at two to three times the par value. As is patent to everyone, nearly all these banking institutions have been building new and enlarging to accommodate the increase in their surplus.

The Olive Co-operative Insurance Association is being constantly solicited to invest its funds to better advantage but as it is necessary to keep these funds so that if necessary, they can be quickly converted into cash, and further because these monies are all collected from the people of Ulster county, the directors have felt they should be invested in and help to support local institutions, but they with many other depositors feel they should have a rate of interest equal to the people of other localities.

Girl Directs Jewelry Robbery

New York, Mar. 6 (P).—A young, well-dressed woman directed a $6,000 jewelry robbery on the lower east side today.

She descended from a sedan, soon after Morris Shafran had opened his shop and asked to see "a dessert set." When the jeweler turned to get the set he felt the prod of a revolver muzzle held by a man who entered the shop with the girl. The girl called in two more armed men while Shafran was being tied and gagged.

Morris Rosansky, a salesman, also met the robbers when he called. He followed the order to lie on the floor so faithfully that he was found in that position when a neighboring shop keeper entered a few minutes later to see why the four robbers had left so hurriedly. They took with them watches, jewelry and two diamonds, the last valued at $2,500 by Shafran, which they had scooped from the counter and window displays.

The Bad Workman

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

The Collarless Coat is a Gesture Toward Spring Chic and Comfort — It Appears in a Variety of Materials, Including Flannel and Tweed.

Paris.—The collarless coat makes a rather general appeal after a winter in which women were buried above their chins in fluffy furs. For one thing, the collarless coat leaves one free to wear it without a collar, or to add a fox neckpiece. It also permits a glimpse of the gown beneath, which is quite likely to be one of the new scatter prints, bright in color and generally refreshing in effect.

Mention has already been made of the mink coat, so taffeta and other silks may be added to a list that starts, if it does not finish, with woolens, many of which are close relatives of the kasha family. Flannels and tweeds are conspicuously present.

Shirring Suggests a Front Yoke in a Coat of Shell Tan Cloth with Kollins Cuffs and Scarf Collar.

The suppression of the collar, and the rather logical addition of a scarf may be mentioned as among early spring impressions. Scarfs cut either in one with the garment, or with its living, are perhaps the most interesting of all. Treatments vary from very narrow bands that are discreetly wider scarfs that are thrown carelessly over one's shoulder.

Costs, it would appear, refuse to be securely buttoned, although they do not rebel against being held by a belt, or some device that contributes interest. The majority are dragged around the figure, in the silhouette that women seem to heartily endorse. While spring presages a renewed interest in suits, the spring coat is of paramount importance.

VELVET FROCKS FOR YOUNG GIRLS ABOUND IN NAIVE DETAILS

IN FROCKING the younger generation in black velvet, as the mode has taken to doing, there is every attention given to details which shall bespeak the naivete of youth. The model in this picture illustrates how utterly free from any suggestion of sophisticated styling is the jeune fille frock of velvet, as fashioned for informal daytime wear.

This lovely little frock is made up as simply as if it were of some material other than velvet. Which is a point to remember in selecting a medium for the schoolgirl wardrobe—velvet is considered very proper for practical wear, providing it be suitably styled to informal occasion. So it is that we see girlish touches of glittering buttons, of plaited flounces and other cunning details on the newest velvet frocks such as the bit of white fur edging collar, sleeves and pocket of the dress illustrated.

This idea of plaiting velvet is very popular. Not only are velvet dresses self-trimmed in plaitings of the fabric, but the skirt of plaited velvet is one of the fashion's proudest achievements this season.

The fact that black velvet is first choice for the daytime frock, does not mean that colors are neglected. Some of youth's very prettiest dresses are fashioned of velvet in some one or the other new shades of brown. Wine color is also a favorite, as are dark green, navy and beige.

Many velvet dresses are being made up without trimming of any sort. Of course they are plaited and shirred and draped and tucked and all that, but for any other decorative notes they depend upon accessories, chief among which are lace collar and cuff sets.

These lace details include every thing from the simplest little turn-over collars with cuffs to match to deep shoulder capes of lace, also jabots to accent the side fastening of many a blouse.

Sometimes it is a bright silver or gold belt which enlivens the monotone velvet. The newest thing is the metal belt, although those of gilded kidskin are every whit as popular.

To be very smartly attired, it is necessary to wear a bit of gold jewelry with one's velvet frock, say a little necklace or a novel bracelet.

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

"What are women wearing to club meetings in these days, Dame Fashion?"

There are four broad types of clubs, exclusive or real lodges. There is the social club—delicious "entertainment," a little fancy work, and much pleasant converse; there is the philanthropic organization, with qualities of both the social and literary club; there is the card club, for bridge, 500 or even buncos, and lastly, there is the literary club, generally with an honored heritage of years behind it, for not so many have been founded in the last ten years.

Dress demands are generally not exacting for such clubs. The quiet afternoon gown or "dressed sports" frock is the thing to be worn. Dame Fashion saw an adorable gown at a club this week. It was of dark blue crepe with a large plaid figure in gold on it. It was such wonderful cloth that it needed no trimming beyond its own beauty, but a gold crepe to match the lines of the plaid was used for cuffs and a turn-down collar. Another pretty club gown was of crepe in beige and copper-leaf shades combined. Beige hose and leather pumps in the copper shade carried out the tones of the costume.

More plaited black satin-faced crepe skirts with blouse tops of figured or metallic velvet have been worn this winter than ever before.

There is always a striking beauty in a gown of one clear color when it chances to be becoming. One young girl who assisted at an art gallery tea this winter in a beautiful robin red-breast gown of clear red has stayed in Dame Fashion's mind ever since, for the perfection of her ensemble, with the matching red hose and shoes.

Ever so many years ago in Washington, D. C., a most artistic woman said to Dame Fashion, "Always plan brown costumes carefully, for too much brown is tawdry." That adjective is one Dame Fashion never would use of her own choice, and yet that sentence has lived in mind and its meaning is rather plain. So when you choose your club gown in brown, light it up with amber jewelry; knot a real silk scarf square at the side of your shoulder, or pin on a vivid posy.

Maybe that same robin redbreast was giving a good costume lesson when all his pretty brown plumage was touched to beauty by his red feathers.

Black More Fashionable Especially for Evening

There is no mistaking the fact that black is more fashionable than ever, especially for evening wear. The only thing that the dressmakers are worried about now is whether this vogue, which is seen at tea parties, at dances, at theaters and almost everywhere, will last or whether there will be a reaction in a few weeks toward the more brilliant colors. There is usually some relief, however, in the trimmings, either gained by the use of diamante ornaments or bright-colored trimmings. Many of the black coats are trimmed with light-colored furs.

Keeping Lily Pond Fresh

A water lily pond does not require running water. If the proper vegetation is planted in it, the water will remain pure. Once a year, preferably in the autumn after the trees have shed their leaves, the pool should be cleaned.

One Cent A Word Advs. Bring Results

Underneath the City Hall Dome

The casual Visitor Relates the Tale of the Man Who Would a Hunting Gun, and What Happened When He Met Up With a Catfish Mountain Hunter.

One of the most genial men who work around the Municipal Building on East of Kelly street is Scott, the assistant janitor, who is not only an expert with broom and dust cloth, but is also famous as a hunter. At least he thoroughly enjoys spending much of the winter with his pet gun, and the past deer season he tried to kill a number of others, but failed to bring a single solitary buck.

The other day Scotty and several others were talking over their experiences while in the hunting field when the casual Visitor dropped in for a few minutes, and after listening to their tales said that it reminded him of a certain well known man, who also had the hunting bug.

"It seems," continued the C. V., "that this man always had been possessed of the hunting bug, but had never had the opportunity to spend a day or so after deer. When he received an invitation to join a hunting party he promptly dropped everything and made ready."

"He visited a sporting goods store and laid in a first class equipment including a gun, and the following day set off with the others. The first day out they did not even see any sign of deer, and the next morning the man arose early and leaving his friends still asleep he started off on his own hook."

"He had walked some distance when he became tired, and also sleepy for he had risen several hours ahead of his usual rising time, and he decided to sit down and rest for a few minutes."

"Dropping down at the foot of a large tree he kept a wary eye about him, but sleep was not to be denied and soon he was in the land of dreams."

"Just how long he had slept he had no idea but he was suddenly awakened by feeling something wet and sticky brushing against his face. With a terrified start he opened his eyes and beheld standing over him the biggest creature he had ever seen."

"Scat" he yelled and the apparition suddenly took to its heels and disappeared in the opposite direction while the man lost no time in disappearing in a totally different direction. As the man ran he yelled:

"His cry was heard by his companions who rushed to the rescue just in time to see the animal that had frightened their friend pause on a distant hill and glance back."

"Weeping codfishes, it's a cow," shouted one of the rescuing party. "It was and if you don't want a fight on your hands don't mention cow in that man's presence."

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—Arturo Ramos is hard at work in Wall Street. His first day on the job at learning the brokerage business he arrived shortly after 10 a. m. and left at 3 p. m.

Madrid—Almost bathed in its creator's tears, "the victim of the feast" is on its way to New York. Not even the thought of the price paid for the painting could prevent Don Ignacio Sueloaga, the artist, weeping in his chateau as he directed the crating of the picture and bade it goodbye.

New York—The shoe business of J. Mortimer Coward, 28, is to receive $1,000,000 as the result of his death. He was insured for that amount.

London—Out comes George B. Shaw with some sarcasm against the removal of government restrictions against the radioacting of individual opinion, to-wit: "Humbly and rubbish!" Controversial stuff, he says, has been broadcast from the beginning.

Toronto—Dr. C. F. A. Winslow of Yale University is inclined to believe that the League of Nations is a vast mental hygiene experiment. His premise is that if all men were adequately sane there would be no wars.

South River, N. J.—The record of a taxless town is tarnished. South River was mentioned by Norris of Nebraska in the Senate as a perfect example of municipal ownership, with all expenses paid from profits of a lighting plant. But Mayor Allgair said there must be a local fund of 20 cents per $100 this year because of $150,000 street paving bonds. South River, population 10,000, has an unassessed valuation of $4,500,000. There have been no local taxes for three years.

New York—Rhonda Lloyd Winter, musical comedy actress, believes it is humiliating for a self-supporting woman to accept alimony. Asked by a referee hearing at her divorce suit whether she desired any, she replied: "I do not," with a decided emphasis on the negative.

Income Tax in a Nutshell

Tips for Taxpayers.

No. 20.

Charitable contributions and gifts are deductible within the limitations of the revenue act. In order that a deduction may be made, contributions to a corporation, trust, community chest, fund, or foundation must meet several tests. Such organizations must be operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals. No part of its income must inure to the benefit of private stockholders or individuals.

Every church constitutes a religious corporation for the purpose of this deduction. Contributions made to a missionary fund, to church building funds, and for the benefit of other activities of the church are deductible. Pew rents, assessments, and dues paid to churches are regarded as contributions.

Gifts to an individual are not deductible, but if made to a charitable organization, as defined by the revenue act, may be deducted even though the organization distributes the gifts among individual beneficiaries.

Contributions made to the United States, the District of Columbia, any State or Territory, or any "political subdivision thereof" for "exclusively public purposes" are deductible. A gift of real estate to be maintained perpetually as a public park is deductible.

Taxpayers are required to state in their returns the name and address of each organization to which a gift is made, the approximate date, and the amount of the gift in each case.

Boys of "Old Age"

Let us free ourselves from thoughts of age! No man is old but he that thinketh in his heart that he is old. It is simply this thought of age, this consternation that men feel when time has taken their outposts and outworks that demoralizes men and enables time to capture them before they have retired to their impregnable fortresses where time cannot reach or touch them.—Exchange.

Grandmother finds way to grow old gracefully

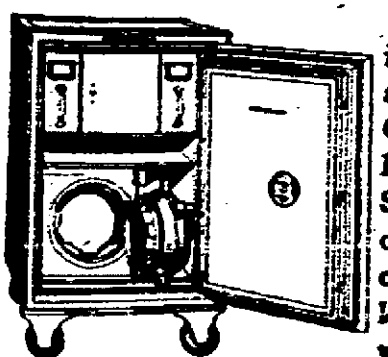

"I don't try to keep up the pace of the younger generation," says this 65-year-old woman. "I leave that to my grandchildren. But just because I lead a quiet life doesn't mean that I'm not perfectly well. I never felt better. Everything about me is normal and functions as it should. I make sure of that by taking Nujol regularly. Nujol keeps me in good condition."

When people become less active, Nujol becomes even more important for good health. For Nujol not only prevents the excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal. All of us—old and young alike—lead more or less sedentary lives. But Nujol helps make up for this lack of exercise. It keeps the body functioning as Nature intended. Even if you think you're perfectly well, try Nujol. It was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Take it for three months and just see if you don't feel better. Nujol can't possibly upset you. It contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. Be sure you get the genuine.

No need to worry about burglars—

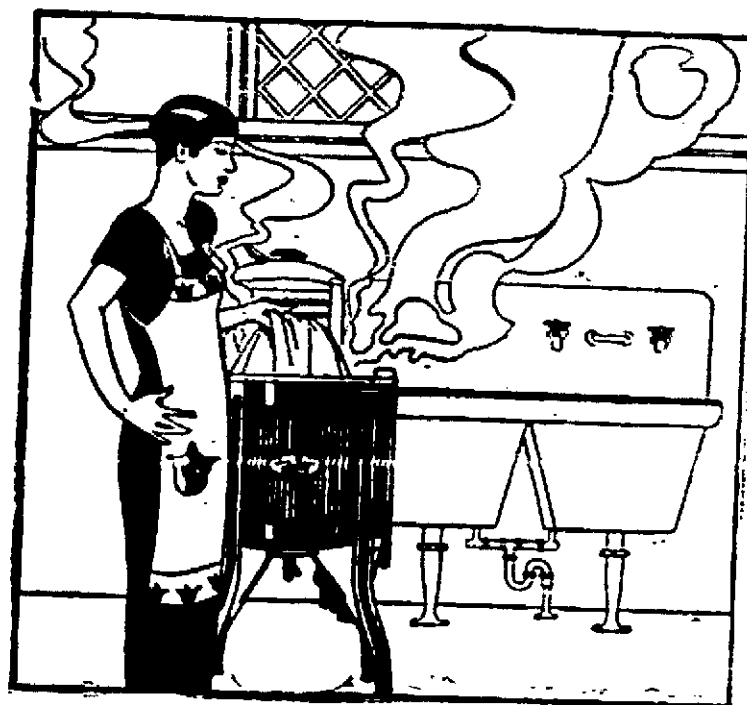

if you have your valuables in a Harveized Chest made by The Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Company. You can give the skilful cracksmen a wagon-load of tools and let him work all night, but he won't get into it. Never yet has it failed.

Make housework easy with hot water

Rub-a-dub weariness—that's what wash day means to most women. The dreariness of the day drags itself out unmercifully if you have to wait for water to heat—the work seems twice as long and twice as hard. And the convenience of continuous hot water is actually an economical investment, which no woman should deny herself. Heating water in small quantities is expensive and bothersome.

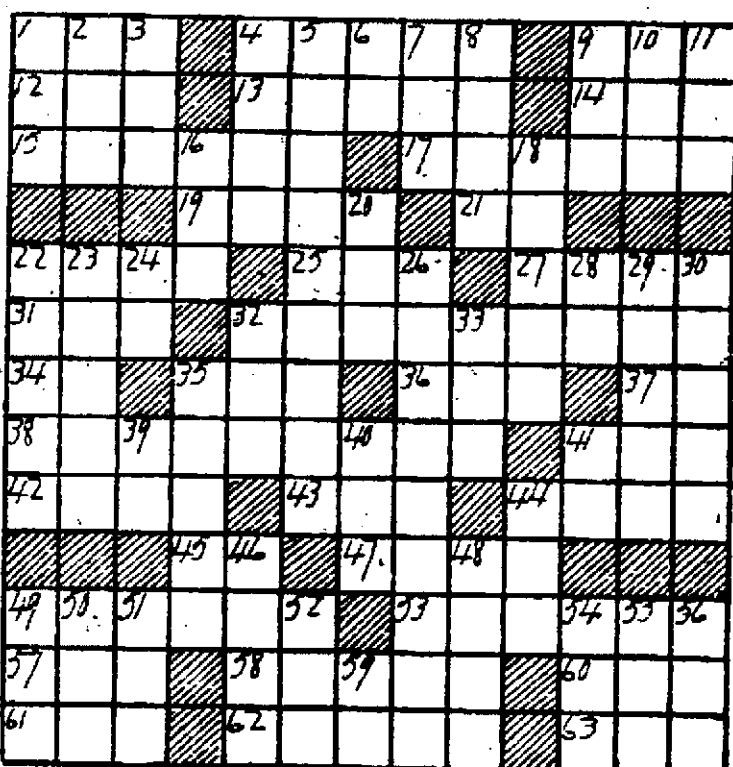

If you would sing at your work on washday—a gas storage water heater is the means. Continuous hot water assures housework done speedily and with less strain on the worker. For dishes, cleaning and baths a continuous supply of steaming hot water is the aid every woman desires. Gas storage water heaters may be installed for $75 cash.

At Court HouseF. J. H. Clarke, Executor of Will of Mary H. S. Ingraham, Presents To County of Ulster Portrait of John Sudam By Vanderlyn.

At the opening of the March term of Supreme Court Monday afternoon, Philip Elting, president of the Ulster County Bar Association, appeared in court and in behalf of the Ulster County Bar introduced Mr. J. H. Clarke, president of the National Ulster County Bank and executor of the will of the late Mary H. S. Ingraham of this city. Judge Staley, who presided at the court recognized Mr. Clarke who, as executor of the will of Miss Ingraham, then presented to the county of Ulster a portrait of Judge John Sudam by Vanderlyn in compliance with a provision of the will of Miss Ingraham. Mr. Clarke in presenting the portrait, which was accepted on behalf of the Ulster County Bar for the County of Ulster by Philip Elting, spoke briefly of the life and activities of the late John Sudam and of other prominent lawyers of the past. Judge Staley at the conclusion of the remarks by Mr. Clarke and Mr. Elting ordered that the portrait be hung on the wall of the court room as requested and also ordered the address of Mr. Clarke spread upon the minutes of the court in full and made a part of the proceedings of the court.

In complying with the provisions of the will and presenting the portrait Mr. Clarke said:
Judge Staley, Mr. President, Members of the Bar Association:
It is a great pleasure for me to have the privilege of appearing before the Bar of Ulster County for any purpose and especially so appearing as the humble instrument through whom the County and Bar are to receive a portrait of an illustrious member of that Bar, to be hung by your consent in the court room, there by adding to the collection of portraits of distinguished deceased members which already adorn these chambers to the enrichment of its attractive appearance. Personally this opportunity is enhanced for the reason that I am not a member of the Bar, a circumstance I greatly regret.I was only after I had been engaged in commercial life for a considerable period that I realized that I had qualities in me which might have made the practice of law a congenial life for me and I regretted that early influences had not directed my attention to the study of law. So by being permitted to say a few words to the Bar of Ulster County will be the only realization of my longing to be placed in the environment of lawyers.
As executor of the estate of Mary H. S. Ingraham, late of the city of Kingston, I have the honor and duty to carry out the seventh clause of her will, wherein she bequeaths unto the County of Ulster, New York, the portrait of John Sudam by Vanderlyn, with the request that the same be placed in the court house of the said County of Ulster, New York; and to respectfully ask that it be accepted by you, as representing the county and by your authority and the exercise of your influence cause the wishes of the testatrix be carried out. I am informed that this portrait is a copy made by the John Vanderlyn, Jr. from an original portrait painted by John Vanderlyn, the renowned artist of the early nineteenth century, an illustrious citizen of Kingston, said to be a protégé of Aaron Burr. This original portrait of John Sudam is now part of a collection of paintings in the City of New York.As a matter of record I take the liberty of referring to the distinguished career of John Sudam for the benefit of others not so well informed regarding his career as your honorable selves. It is written in Schoonmaker's History of Kingston: "John Sudam was in 1820, and had been for a number of years, one of the leading and most successful members of the bar of this county. He also took a very active interest in politics, and his reputation as a lawyer and a politician was not confined to this locality. In 1822 he was elected to the State Senate, and was one of the so-called 'Immortal Seventeen' Senators who defeated the electoral bill, which was designed to give the choice of electors for President and Vice President to the people instead of their being appointed by the legislature, as the law then stood."
He represented this district in the New York Senate from 1823 to 1825, twelve years. On March 31st, 1829, he was appointed one of the regents of the University of the State of New York. He died at Albany in 1825.

He is also referred to in Clearwater's History of Ulster County as having attained great eminence professionally and served with equal distinction in the State Senate.

When notice was given that the books for subscription to the stock of the Ulster County Bank, the first bank to be formed in Ulster county, dated March 24th, 1821, John Sudam was one of the commissioners.

While I shall not speak further of John Sudam I wonder if it might be interesting for me to mention the names of other deceased members of the Bar I have known in their lives and whom I remember to have been acquainted with, some of them having been warm personal friends.

It is said that in China an elderly man does not hide his age but is rather proud of his years, for age in that land of ancestral worship commands power, respect and leadership. So in the hope that it will not impair my usefulness I will not hide the fact that I have lived in Kingston 52 years and have known more lawyers than are now dead than I know among those living.

The only lawyer living now that was practicing his profession when I came to Kingston was Judge A. T. Clearwater and Newton J. Fiero, who still resides in Albany. N. T. Augustus H. Van Ertzen and Judge James A. Betts commenced to practice not long after.

General George H. Sharpe was not practicing his profession at that time but was engaged in his military service. I remember seeing at that time as a sort of "stranger" in earlier life he had been a partner of the late B. Steele, a lawyer of repute, who was a Congressman from this district who in 1856 while making a canvass of the voters for re-election was driving to Henderson, New York, where he was to deliver a lecture. He was driving his horse-drawn carriage and was down the road in making the turn when the carriage was overturned and Mr. Steele thrown out. The carriage was overturned and Mr. Steele thrown out. The carriage was overturned and Mr. Steele thrown out. The carriage was overturned and Mr. Steele thrown out.

David M. LeWitt was in Congress when he resumed the practice of law. I recall to this day his matches in business life.

William S. Kenyon everyone loved, especially young lawyers who sought his advice and help and his memory will always be green among them.

William S. Kenyon, Jr., his son, was a delight to his comrades for his wit and independent ways. William Lounsbury was a keen lawyer. Many arguments I have heard with him, for I rarely agreed with his views. He delighted to tease and was an opponent, less lifted, in argument, by the use of his keen wit.

Judge Theodore R. Westbrook frequented my drug store evenings while waiting for the mail, until there was formed an informal gathering of bankers, lawyers and merchants in the clear store of John S. Bray, known as the "Gold Board", a name given it, I think by Macdonald Van Wagonen, a lawyer, and for many years a reporter of The Kingston Daily Freeman and a court stenographer.

Frederick L. Westbrook was an able lawyer and a delightful companion. Charles A. Fowler was also an able lawyer and a good churchman and a most pleasing companion with a reputation outside of Ulster county.

John J. Linson had a judicial mind which always commanded respect and had his political party been in the ascendance he would have undoubtedly obtained judicial preferment. He was one of my dearest friends, and I hold his memory dear.

Judge Alton B. Parker was very close to me and I shall prize his friendship always.

Charles F. Cantine also commended the respect and love of all men. His death in the prime of life was a sorrow to the community.

Howard Chipp was an able lawyer, loving literature and the classics. It was also a delight to have him in a company of friends. His death leaves a void that has not been filled in the hearts of those who know him.

John W. Searing was a good lawyer, holding many public positions with fidelity and honor as well as having great social gifts. He was one of my warmest friends.

The recent death of John G. Van Etten was a blow to his generation and we have not yet lost our appreciation of him.

Alvah S. Newcomb's recent death brings his memory before us with recent grief.

Besides the gentlemen specifically referred to, I have known and spoken with and had conversation with the following deceased lawyers of Ulster county:

A. Bryn Hasbrouck, Harrison Sudam, Howard Chipp, Senator, Marius Schoonmaker, Rouben Bernard, Peter Cantine, James M. Cooper, William Lawton, Seymour L. Stebbins, Robert F. MacCauley, Derrick W. Sparling, William D. Brincker, John Van Vechten Kenyon, George C. Woolsey, John E. Van Etten, Archibald M. Childs, T. Beckman Westbrook, Chas. M. Preston, George R. Adams, Oliver P. Carpenter, Benj. J. Coons, Daniel E. Keyser, Charles Davis, William T. Holt, Ashley Cooper, Samuel T. Hull, Mac Donald Van Wagonen, Stephen S. Hulbert, DeWitt Rogers, C. Meach Woolsey, John P. Crooman, Louis B. Van Gaasbeck, Hector Sears, F. Arthur Westbrook.

A goodly array of gentlemen whose talents for truth and justice, have no doubt made the Kingdom of Heaven a more blessed place for those fortunate enough to reach there.

As I look in the faces of the members of the Bar present, I recognize superior qualities, I feel sure that the fame of the Ulster County Bar will be continued by your efforts and that its future renown will be as great, if not greater than the record made by those members of past years.

LAST NIGHT
on the RADIO

The various buzzers and snarlers seem to have gone into retirement and reception continued clear all day and evening Monday. Static developed early in the evening and was at its height from 7 to 5 o'clock, gradually diminishing thereafter and not interfering in the least with the General Motors Family Party and the Time to Retire program. Chicago stations were especially strong and WGY behaved perfectly during the entire evening, which is more than can be said for WJZ or WEAF.

SORDID TALE OF TROPICAL SEAS
RIVALS FICTION*Swaggering Bully Charged With Tossing Shipmate to Sharks.

New York.—Frank Pollack, prize fighter, sailor, bully and accused murderer, has come home in from the tropical seas to answer to the charge of tossing a crippled shipmate to the sharks that he might drain a bottle alone. Patrick Hunter, maimed but nonetheless genial, went to his death of wicked Port Said, "somewhere east of Suez, where the best is like the worst." He died because he sought friendship where there was none.

The grim story of murder on the high seas, of a swaggering bully who terrorized the crew with whom he worked, defied his officers, and made life a torment for one lame seaman who, it is charged, was his victim in an uneven fight when the two were alone on the deck of their ship, was revealed by Assistant District Attorney George H. Mintzer.

Rivals Stories of Fiction.
The motor ship Tampa brought the story when she docked in Brooklyn, but Pollack arrived several days later on the steamship Canada. The crime took place on the Tampa, but Pollack was held for a while in the Azores for questioning by the American consul.

The story in its starkness and sordidness is reminiscent of the sea yarns of fiction, except that no glamorous attaches to this man, who was so easily the physical superior of any of his mates that he was absolute ruler of the forecastle, and who chose as his opponent a cripple.

But Pollack was sly. His officers, he knew, had the means of overpowering him, strong as he was. So with them he was merely surly. But from the time he signed aboard the ship the crew lived in fear. He bullied them mercilessly, but he never came to an open break with his superiors.

His fellow shipmates declare they hated him for he "soldiered"—would not do his work and was a troublemaker. They could escape him. They were strong. But Hunter was a different proposition. The little seaman was crippled and could not resist the bully. His only hope was to seek friendship and act in the role of a toady. It didn't help, as the puglist bullied him continually.

It was off Port Said, Egypt, that things came to a head. The two men went to the poop deck—to drink from Hunter's bottle. It was said, Hunter never came back. What happened on that lonely deck under cover of the starlit tropical night is not definitely known. Whether Pollack deliberately lured Hunter to his death, the crew of the ship do not know.

On a Hunger Strike.
Pollack says he does not know what became of Hunter. The men on the Tampa insist Hunter was thrown into the sea.

All of the circumstances of Hunter's disappearance are obscured by lack of facts, but one thing is certain and that is that Pollack swaggered back from the poop deck alone and that Patrick Hunter was never seen again. Pollack soon found himself in irons and he stayed in irons until the Tampa put in at St. Michaels, in the Azores. There Pollack was turned over to William L. Doty, American consul, and the Tampa went on to America. Pollack went on a hunger strike and Doty, fearing he might starve himself to death, had him put aboard the Canada in irons.

Man's Hand Is Nailed to Floor by Robber

Jersey City, N. J.—A robber, big and brutal, nailed John O'Donnell, a young grocery clerk, to the store floor with an ice pick when he refused to disclose the cache where $33.77 of his employer's money was hidden.

The pick was driven through the young man's right hand as he lay on the floor, arms outstretched, and held down under the weight of a box of canned goods. A blow across the teeth with the butt end of the hold-up man's revolver had knocked him out, but his assailant took no chances on making a safe getaway, and so nailed him down.

French Fliers Resume Flight

Chicago, Mar. 6 (AP).—Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Lebriz, French aerial globe trotters, hopped off from the municipal airport at 6:45 a. m. today for Cheyenne, Wyo.

The fliers have booked steamship passage from Tokyo, out of San Francisco, March 15, and explained they must be on the coast by March 10 to dismantle and pack their plane, the Nungesser-Coli, for the trip across the Pacific.

Captain Costes, who is reported to be suffering an attack of appendicitis, slept under an ice pack last night, but reported that he was feeling better today and under no circumstances would he consent to postponement of the flight to Cheyenne.

COLONEL MCENTEE WILL TALK ON PHILIPPINES.

Lieutenant Colonel Girard L. McEntee, U. S. A., son of the late Girard L. McEntee, who was born and brought up at the beautiful McEntee homestead on the Weinberg which stood on the site now occupied by the residence of Thomas and Frank Coykendall, will lecture on "The Truth About the Philippines" at the chapel of the First Dutch Church on March 23. President Roosevelt appointed Colonel McEntee a Lieutenant in the Regular Army in 1902. He was sent to the Philippines, where he served three years of duty. He collected upwards of one hundred beautiful colored slides to illustrate his picture. He is regarded in the army as one of the most accomplished of its officers in the delivery of lectures. He has delivered this lecture at West Point, Annapolis, the Naval War College at Newport, the Annapolis War Club in Washington, at Yale, Harvard, Princeton and many other universities.

ARROW*A YOUTHFUL PATRICIAN

With the assurance of ancestry, the new Pierce-Arrow found instant place in the world to which it belongs

ABOUT the new Pierce-Arrow there is a certain distinction that no designer could ever bestow. That is its heritage. That is the thing which is Pierce-Arrow. It cannot be imitated.

Great engineers, fine body builders, and highly skilled craftsmen combine to produce other cars contemporary with the new Pierce-Arrow.

But these other cars, fine as they are, lack the Pierce-Arrow tradition. And that tradition is responsible for the precedence which is accorded Pierce-Arrow the world over.

Twelve custom-built models in the Continental fashion and colorings.
From $2900, at Buffalo.

You may purchase a Pierce-Arrow out of income if you prefer. A simplified financing plan makes this a most practical procedure. Your present car accepted as cash up to the full amount of its appraisal valuation.

Famous as Botanists
Among the ancients Aristotle, the Greek philosopher; Theophrastus, the Roman naturalist; Pliny the elder, and the Greek physician, Dioscorides, left botanical records of historical interest, but botany as a modern science has developed in the last four centuries, dating from the Reformation. In 1583 Cesalpino, an Italian physician, published the first formal and comprehensive classification of plants.

NEW PALM

New Paltz, March 5.—Just east of the old King house on Huguenot street stands the Huguenot Arms on Broadway avenue. Individuality is the keynote of this place, and where one is admitted to Huguenot Arms, if you turn to the clock room in the left you will find a place that is different so different you might almost imagine yourself in the old world.

C. Estrope, the proprietor, lived for years in New York as an importer of china and glass. When he tired of the city and came to New Paltz, he continued to import. He sells at Huguenot Arms pretty things, plates, crockeries from England, France, Spain and Germany. He specializes in Bavarian china dinner sets. Across the hall in the tea room, cocoa, cookies and all kinds of dainties are served. The tall clock chimes are a reproduction of the chimes of Westminster. Mr. Estrope said the clock came from Porsheim in the Black Forest. Back of the tea room is the dining room, where amid surroundings of individuality, substantial meals are served. While you are visiting that part of the town, you will recall that over the way lives Mr. Hinzburger who makes cut glass for Tiffany and Ovington.

Miss D. Giddings and Miss Beebe spent Saturday at Sugar Harbor.

The Sullivan Shaver Post, No. 174, of the American Legion, will hold a card party in the local post rooms on Friday evening, March 6, beginning at 8 o'clock. Progressive, "500", pinocle and dominoes will be played. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

There will be a meeting of the Lenton Sewing Society of St. Andrew's Guild at Mrs. Alexander's on Oakwood Terrace, Thursday, March 5, at 8 o'clock.

The old Van Orden homestead farm at Modena owned for many years by D. A. Hasbrouck of New Paltz, was sold last week to George Rhinehart of Long Island who will use it as a summer home.

A regular meeting of the Dutch Guild will be held at the home of Mrs. Henry Poucher, March 8, at 2 p. m.

The Fellowship Club, Methodist Church students' organization, announce the coming of the Highland Falls Epworth League players. They will present "The Path Across the Hill," a most entertaining three act drama. The date is Monday, March 12, and the place is Colonial Hall. This company of players has won golden opinions wherever they have gone.

Mr. and Mrs. William Van Wageningen and son, Nathan, and daughter, Lois, visited the Normal School on Washington's Birthday.

Miss Ruth Fechner, a former graduate of the New Paltz Normal, was a visitor at the school one day last week.

Division of Lifetime

Some one has figured out that the average man spends his "three score and ten" years about as follows: In sleep, 23 years; 4 months; at work, 19 years; 8 months; at play, 10 years; eating and drinking, 6 years; dressing and undressing, 2 years; traveling, 4 years; sick and convalescing, 4 years; miscellaneous, 1 year.

More Teeth in Dry Act

THE Stalker bill, making five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine the penalty for a first violation of the Volstead Act, has caused a fresh "wet" and "dry" rumormongering in the House. According to Mabel Walker Willebrandt of the Department of Justice (shown in center), putting sharp "first teeth" in prohibition enforcement will bring quick jail sentences to the big bootlegger and respect for the law. Representative Hersey of Maine, committee chairman (lower left), agrees with her. The chief dissenter is Congressman La Guardia of New York (upper right), who says that the "roll top desk" bootlegging will continue to escape punishment while truck drivers and "contact men" receive higher penalties. The "joker" in the bill, La Guardia finds, that will bring delight to bootleggers, is the removal of the mandatory jail sentence for a second violation hitherto in force.

Dunkirk—Two silver foxes which escaped a few days ago from a fox farm at Brockton, were shot by hunters in a wood 10 miles from the farm. The pelts valued at $500 each, were returned to the owners by the hunters.

Willbore—Railroad men in this section are investigating the causes of what they term the most peculiar wreck in many years. As a long freight train on the Delaware and Hudson Railroad was crossing a bridge over the Bouquet river here, a car loaded with pulpwood was derailed and plunged into the stream. No other car was dragged from the rails nor damaged in any way.

Rochester—Organization of the Seneca Club, which plans a club house combining the features of an athletic club and a family club, has been announced here. The new club house, in French chateau design, will be erected in East avenue, according to the present plans, and construction is scheduled to begin next summer.

Sherry—A horse owned by Albert Eschline, of this village, after being sharpened a few days ago, kicked its team mate so hard that the animal died.

Rochester—Increased when former County Judge Philip H. Donnelly asked "How about a little justice?" City Court Judge William C. Kohlmetz crashed his gavel down on the bench with such force that the head flew off. The gavel head whizzed through the court room, missing Charles Eagle, court clerk, by an inch.

Canisteo—Deep snow on his mail route through the hilly country near here holds no terrors for W. S. Caward, who uses a motor driven sled adapted from an automobile. A caterpillar tread arrangement is placed over the rear wheels, while long runners replace the front wheels.

Important Ruling On Immigration

PARKSTONE CLOTHES

FIVE DOLLARS

New York, March 4.—The United States court of appeals today ruled that the Immigration and Naturalization Service has no authority to deport a native-born American citizen who has acquired citizenship by naturalization, and who has not been convicted of a crime. The ruling was made in a case involving a man who had been deported from the United States on the ground that he was an alien. The court held that the man was a citizen and therefore could not be deported. The ruling is significant because it clarifies the status of naturalized citizens and their rights to remain in the United States.

The decision had been awaited by immigration officials and by thousands of workers living in Canada who have applied on this side of the border for admission. The decision was unanimous, making it clear that even though Miss Cook, a British subject, not born in Canada, and therefore not a native-born citizen, she cannot be lawfully deported, as both are British subjects living in Canada.

Good Advice

"Love, laugh and live longer," advises one of the Polynesian syndicate sisters. Not a few men have loved, laughed and lived longer. In matters of this kind very much depends on who the love and the laughter happen to be.—Thrill Magazine.

Boston Braves Have High Hopes

Impressing Their Seventh Place Position of Last Year in National League—New Shortstop and Second Basemen Should Help.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 6 (AP)—Boston Braves are starting with high hopes of improving their seventh place position of last year in the National League. The club has an average 100, to the presence of a shortstop they did not have in the training camp last spring. The addition of Rogers Hornsby at second base has encouraged Manager Jack Barry, promoted from scout to manager, as he starts his first season in charge of a major league club. With Eddie Farrell to work with the former St. Louis manager and Giant captain, Slattery thinks he will be able to show a tight defense at second and short.

With these exceptions and a number of pitching recruits the crop of athletes is the same this year as last. Zach Taylor returns from the Giants to attempt to catch a majority of the games, about 125 if he escapes injury. Eddie Moore, young in years but a veteran player, seems definitely assigned to an outfield post after playing in and out of the infield. Burns will again play first and Andy High seems to have the call at third. Hornsby at second and Farrell at short are set. Jimmy Cooney and Walter Gautreaux, baseball's smallest exhibit, will take care of the emergency assignments.

Moore, the handy man; Ed Brown, who plays day in and day out, and Lance Richbourg, the Florida flash, may make up the outfield combination with Jack Smith subject to call. Another place will be reserved on the bench for either John McNamara or Earl Clark, the latter only 20 years of age and regarded as a definite corner, now or later.

The pitching candidates have shown enough to draw smiles from the disgruntled Slattery and reserved Hornsby. President Emil E. Fuchs, fairly beams as he sees the pitchers display their wares.

The optimists will grow to a decided majority if Johnny Cooney's continued tests of his arm show that it is well again. Greenfield, Genewich, Smith, Wertz and Robertson are assured of first line places. Hearn, Mills and Edwards have been Braves before and may be again, and Guy Morrison, who finished with the Braves after a season at Waterbury, has a chance to stick. Morrison left his studies at Columbia University to report.

One of the best prospects from the minors is Eddie Brandt, a big south-paw from Seattle. Only 23 years old but looming up an inch and a half over six feet and scaling 185 pounds, Brandt on his early season showing will be taking his turn on the mound from the outset. Arthur Delaney, another Pacific coast recruit, has also made an impression, as has Bill Dunlap, who threw them for Lynn last season. Dunlap is only 18 years of age.

RYAN QUINTET LOST TO FOUR FEIN PLAYERS

The Fein team, playing with four men, defeated the Ryan game, 43-42, in a Senior League game at the Y. M. C. A. court Monday night.

The Fein five held the score by a safe margin at the end of the first half, 28-18, but in the final session their opponents broke loose and added 24 points to their score. When the final whistle blew the Fein team held the score by but one point.

Johnson did the major scoring for the Ryan team with 16 points while Fox was the high point-getter for the Fein quintet with 13 points to his credit.

The Hebrew-Americans defeated the Holy Cross Church team, 28-18, Monday at the church team's court. Rogers of the winning aggregation was the leading scorer of the tilt with 12 markers to his credit. Fitzgerald of the Holy Cross team caged the sphere for 10 points.

The Hebrew-Americans would like to book games with some of the junior church teams. A special challenge is issued to the Comforter team and the St. Mary's Parochial School five. Games may be booked by calling 2457.

Smith Asks 50 Per Cent Slash in Direct State Tax

Surplus of $6,000,000 Will Allow Half Mill Rate On Realty—That That Republicans Might Fall In Line—Smith's Explanation of His Revised Recommendation.

Albany, N. Y., Mar. 6 (AP)—The supplemental appropriation bill, together with a recommendation by Governor Smith that a 50 per cent reduction be made in the direct state tax on real property, was before the legislature today as among the most important features of legislation to be considered during the last two weeks of the present session.

Carrying a total of $1,222,109.75, the supplemental bill, prepared by the division of the budget, was submitted to the Legislature last night by the Governor with the suggestion that there also be included items aggregating $531,349.04 cut from the general appropriation bill submitted by the Governor a month ago.

"I earnestly request that all of the items be reinstated in the supplemental bill," wrote the Governor in a special message. "They make for the welfare, health and comfort of all of our people."

In a second special message, the Governor set forth his recommendation for the real estate tax cut, which, he said, should be substituted for an earlier recommendation that a cut of 25 per cent be made. The present tax is one mill, while by cutting it to one half a mill, the Governor estimated that there still would remain a treasury surplus of $6,000,000.

Promotes Loveliness Of Skin And Hair

Use Cuticura Soap for daily toilet purposes, with touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed, and have fresh, clear skin and healthy, glossy hair. They are ideal for the toilet, as is also the smooth, cooling, fragrant Cuticura Talcum.

At the end of the fiscal year, the recommendation, he noted, was based upon the theory that no more money should be exacted from the taxpayers in one year than is required to meet all the legitimate expenses of the government.

Governor's Explanation
Explanation of his revised recommendation for the tax cut was made as follows:

"In my financial message of January 16, acting upon the advice of the state department of taxation and finance and the state comptroller, I estimated the state's revenues for the coming fiscal year at $245,448,747.45. A revision of that estimate, based upon actual experience up to the present day shows that the estimated revenue of the state from all sources for the next fiscal year will be $250,549,028.28.

"Figuring appropriation bills recommended, many of which are already signed, and making allowance for necessary appropriations yet to be made, I am convinced that the total amount of appropriations will not be in excess of $222,000,000, leaving a treasury surplus of approximately $18,500,000. Instead of a one third of a mill decrease in the direct state tax upon real and personal property, a one half mill reduction will leave sufficient money to adequately provide a surplus which under the figures presented by the department of taxation and finance and the comptroller, means a surplus reserve of at least $6,000,000."

Knight Delighted.
A hint that the Republican leaders might fall in line with the Governor on the proposed tax cut was made in the Senate by Majority Leader John Knight when the message was read. He expressed himself as "delighted" and declared that "at last the Governor has come around to the Republican viewpoint of decreasing the burden on the real estate taxpayer."

"So now you find yourself in harmony with the Governor," commented Minority Leader Bernard Downing, adding that "it wouldn't have been a bad thing for your party to have anticipated the Governor in so many of the other good things he has sought in his years of administration here."

Postponing its intended consideration of the question of whether it could concur with the Assembly in fixing March 16 as the day of adjournment, the Senate last night made a tentative bid for adjournment by that day by rushing through a heavy calendar. Several controversial measures were laid aside until today, however, as well as consideration of motions to be made by Minority Leader Downing to discontinue a number of Governor Smith bills. These included proposals for state development of water power resources, motions to discharge which were defeated in the assembly last night by party votes. New York city transit bills, restoration of direct primaries, and a resolution calling for a study of proposed reorganization of county governments.

The most fragile and costly thing when broken, is the feminine heart.

Careful Cutting Helps Woodlot

New York Farmer Cut $100 Worth of Fuel From Each Acre, Aiding Stand.

In a woodlot on the farm of Henry Kellogg of Barnes Corners in Lewis county, $100 worth of fuel wood was recently removed from each acre and the woodlot was left in better condition than before cutting, according to J. A. Cope, forester at Cornell University, who had charge of selecting and cutting the trees.

Woodlot Improvement.
This was part of a woodlot improvement campaign conducted by the Lewis county farm bureau in which Mr. Kellogg agreed to use his woodlands to show what could be done. An area was laid out in a 20-acre woodlot, and the trees marked to be cut were only those that were defective, crooked or were what are commonly called "weed" species.

At a woods meeting, attended by farmers of the community, the marked trees which had been carefully cut and ranked were measured. It was found that 80 15-inch cords of wood had been cut from each acre. This fuel wood had a roadside value of $200. Mr. Kellogg kept a record of time required to cut, haul and rank this wood, and found the 80 cords could be delivered to the roadside for $100, including sawing it into 15-inch lengths, thereby netting him a clear stumpage value of $100 an acre.

Saved Crop Trees.
The group next visited the lot where the cutting was done to see that the main crop trees of thrifty ash, basswood and hard maple had not been touched. The cutting had improved the condition of the stand so that the crowns of the remaining trees will be able to expand and thus diameter-growth will be greatly increased. Mr. Kellogg's experience indicated that, as far as Lewis county woodlots go, "you can cut your cake and have it, too," Mr. Cope says.

Stinking Smut: L. E. Widely Spread Disease

Stinking smut is the most widely spread disease of wheat and next to black stem rust is the most destructive. It has an estimated to cause an annual loss in the United States of 25,000,000 bushels. Stinking smut grows within the wheat plant and eventually forms smut balls in the place of the kernels. It causes a general shrinkage in the outline of the head but does not otherwise greatly change the outward appearance of the field only by close examination or by scenting its odor which is similar to that of decaying fish. When the smutted wheat is threshed many of the smut balls are broken and some of the smut dust or spores is lodged on the surfaces of sound grains. If the smutted grain is sown, the smut spores germinate with the seed wheat and again develop within the plant. In this way the disease is carried from one crop to the next.

State Game Laws Govern Hunting in the Forests

Can anyone hunt and kill game in the national forests? This question is frequently asked. Department of Agriculture officials. Hunting and fishing in all national forests, says the forest service, are governed by the game laws of the state in which the national forest is located. Most forest officers are deputy state game wardens and it is their duty to enforce the state game laws at all times. In some of the national forests, however, national game refuges have been set aside for the preservation of wild life. In these refuges hunting and fishing are not allowed, except under special circumstances and with the approval of the authorities in charge.

Agricultural Squibs

A farm implement in the shelter is worth two in the storm.

Concrete gate posts, covered with stucco, make attractive entrances to farms.

Cement-asbestos shingles may be placed directly over an old wooden shingle roof.

Poultry usually do not need such things as yeast, mineral or tonics if they receive adequate rations.

A grooved surface on a concrete approach to a raised driveway will assure a firm foothold.

Probably the most important of all the more recent tendencies in fruit growing is the use of sweet clover in the apple orchard.

"Price chasing" of farmers in order to catch the high price crops or live stock has on many occasions resulted in disappointment.

It costs more for each bushel or for each unit to market a large crop of an agricultural product than it costs to market a small crop.

Farmers who take an annual inventory should not forget to include the dog. He may be an asset or a liability for he has to be fed and an annual tax has to be paid for him.

Dr. Cadman at Y. M. Meeting

The local Y. M. C. A. will hold its annual meeting June 21. This is somewhat later than the time for it to be held. At this meeting the people always expect good speaking. Through the persistent effort of General Secretary John C. Porter, Dr. F. Parker Cadman, president of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America, has been secured as the speaker this year for the occasion.

This was the only date left open for the next year and a half for which Dr. Cadman was not booked. Mr. Porter waited for nearly two weeks after an interview with his private secretary until the following letter was sent:

Mr. John C. Porter,
Central Y. M. C. A.,
Kingston, N. Y.
My Dear Mr. Porter:
"I have put down Thursday, June 21st, for the Y. M. C. A. meeting at Kingston.

With every good wish, believe me, Cordially yours,

News of the Day In Wall Street

New York, March 6 (AP).—February gross revenues of the Northern Pacific were more than $600,000 above the $5,978,975 in February last year, said Charles Donnelly, president. Although operating conditions were not as favorable as a year ago, he was confident net operating income would exceed the $694,000 for last year.

Total production of paper and pulp by International Paper Company in 1927 was 322,622 tons, highest on record, against 249,172 tons in 1926, an increase of about 12.6 percent. Production of all grades of paper was 702,105 tons, a gain of about 15.5 percent over the 607,629 tons turned out in 1926. Pulp manufactured for outside sale was slightly lower, 151,528 tons, against 132,542.

Youngstown dispatches to Wall Street say there is nothing to indicate any changes this year by Youngstown Sheet and Tube in its $5 dividend rate on the common. The company expects to show average operations of 70 percent for the first quarter. Earnings are less than for the same period of 1927, but the price situation is improving. James A. Campbell, president, is expected back shortly from Florida.

Columbia Steel Corporation, including Carbon County Railway Company, reports net profits of $1,066,339 for 1927, equal after preferred dividends to 27 cents a share on the common against $1,090,271 in 1926, or 23 cents a share on the common on a smaller amount of stock outstanding.

LENTEN CANTATA AT FIRST REFORMED CHURCH

One of the most attractive of the new Lenten cantatas is Harold Moore's "The Harkest Hour". This cantata will be sung at the First Reformed Church next Sunday evening by the augmented choir of the church, under the direction of W. Whitman, organist and choirmaster. This work has for its subject the events and scenes preceding and leading up to the Crucifixion and gives a most vivid musical picture of these events.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 6 (AP).—An outburst of selling in the rubber shares caused only a temporary halt in the upward movement of prices in the rubber market, which was again followed by heavy accumulation of the rubber shares. Trading in General Motors common, the feature of the three previous sessions, quieted, although the stock mounted to a new high record at 14 1/2 after being dipped to 14 1/4 around midday.

Hupp Motors, in which William C. Durant is reported to have a large interest, ran up to a new peak at 4 1/2, and there was brisk demand for Packard, Nash, Studebaker, Hudson and Chrysler. U. S. Rubber common sank more than 2 points to a new low at 42 1/2 and the preferred broke 5 to 55 1/2, on fears for the safety of the preferred dividend and rumors of large inventory losses through the recent drop in crude rubber prices.

There was little in the day's news to influence the price movement, although Wall Street expressed considerable interest in the proposed formation of a $2,000,000,000 holding corporation to consolidate several railroad equipment and electric manufacturing companies. (All money renewed at 4 1/2 per cent, but loans in the outside market were reported as low as four per cent.)

In the afternoon recovery, most of the active stocks reached their best prices of the day. Warren Brothers, Greene Cananea Copper, International Harvester, Case Threshing Machine, American Tobacco A and B, and American Zinc preferred all sold four to nearly seven points above last night's closing quotations. The success of the drive against the "shorts" in General Motors inspired a similar campaign against bear traders in radio and International Nickel, which rallied briskly on heavy buying.

SOMETHING GOOD

A NICE salad which may be served at any meal after breakfast is—
Fruit Salad.

Arrange six halved pears, fresh if possible; if not well-drained canned ones, on nests of lettuce with a spoonful of halved grapes and pour over the Pineapple Dressing.

Take the juice from a can of pineapple, warm and add two tablespoons of butter well blended with one tablespoonful of flour; add two eggs yolks well beaten, three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, and cook until smooth and thick. Add the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and mix well. Then set away to cool. Add one-half cupful of whipped cream and serve.

Apple Pudding.

Grate six green apples, add eight crumbed macaroons, one cupful of milk, three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, five beaten eggs and a few grains of salt. Butter a mold, pour the mixture into it, dot with butter and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Unmold and serve with plain cream.

Veal Loaf.

Mix the following ingredients together thoroughly: Three pounds of ground veal, one chopped onion, two cupfuls of bread crumbs, three teaspoonfuls of salt, two eggs, the juice of a lemon or one cupful of tomato juice and three-fourths of a pound of fat pork ground. Make into a long roll, place in a baking pan, rub with lemon juice and bake in a hot oven for an hour, basting often with the juices from the pan. Serve with:

Creole Sauce.

To one-half cupful of rich white sauce, prepared by using one tablespoonful each of butter and flour, cook and add one-half cupful of rich milk, add two tablespoonfuls of minced onion, four of green pepper. Add one small can of tomato soup just before serving. Add seasonings to suit the taste.

Knew Horrors of War

Take my word for it, if you had seen but one day of war, you would pray to Almighty God that you might never again see even an hour of war.—The Duke of Wellington, conqueror of Napoleon at the battle of Waterloo.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

NAPOLEON

NAPOLEON is a man worth thinking about. What he said and wrote is worth thinking about. So for the most part we are letting this article be written by Napoleon.

On the morning of his death he said: "There is nothing terrible in death; he has been about my pillow for the last three weeks and now he is about to take me away forever."

There will come a time when all of us will think about death, and if Napoleon could think pleasantly in exile, we ought to be able to think pleasantly in freedom.

"Those should possess knowledge who aspire to assume the command over others."

Napoleon believed in fate. He said: "It is not written on high that I am to perish by the hands of the Arabs," and he made his escape.

At another time he said to an officer: "My friend, if that ball were destined for you, it would be sure to find you, though you were to burrow a hundred feet under ground."

But if Napoleon believed in fate, it never interfered with his belief that he could accomplish what he set out to do.

Of Lemmes, who entered the army as a volunteer, and died marshal of France, Napoleon said: "I found him a dwarf, and left him a giant."

Napoleon found himself a dwarf and made of himself the greatest military commander that ever lived, unless it be Julius Caesar.

"From the sublime to the ridiculous there is but a step." Of all the things which Napoleon said, he was fondest and proudest of this one sentence.

When Madame de Stael asked Napoleon whom he considered the greatest woman in the world, his reply was: "Her who has borne the most children." This ought to be satisfying to the American mothers of big families.

There is disagreement as to the last words that Napoleon uttered. According to one authority, his words constituted a broken sentence, "My God! and the French nation . . . My son . . . Head of the army . . . France! France!"

According to another authority the last word which he spoke was the name of Josephine.

The most eloquent thing ever said or written of Napoleon was Robert Ingersoll's description of the tomb of Napoleon under the dome of the Invalides in Paris. In the last paragraph of that magnificent, but brief description, Ingersoll said: "I would rather have been a French peasant and worn wooden shoes; I would rather have lived in a hut with a vine growing over the door, and the grapes growing purple in the autumn sun; I would rather have been that poor peasant, with my wife by my side, knitting, as the day died out of the sky, with my children upon my knees and their arms about me; I would rather have been this man and gone down to the tongueless silence of the dreamless dust than to have been that imperial impersonator of force and murder known as Napoleon the Great."

IMPROVEMENT REPORTED IN COUNTRY'S BUSINESS

Washington, Mar. 6 (AP).—Figures from an unemployment survey undertaken recently by the labor department, are now nearly completed. Secretary Davis said today, and showed an improvement in the country's business conditions, although it has been necessary to re-check some of the totals before making them public.

The labor department will issue its report as soon as the details are completed. A demand was made upon it yesterday by a senate resolution for an estimate of employment conditions.

In general it can be said that there is an upward trend to employment. Mr. Davis said. "Business is becoming more active and more workers are being replaced on the payrolls. We do not intend to get out anything but accurate figures and are consequently taking more than usual care in working up the data obtained by the inquiry."

Ten Persons Die

In Quebec Fire

Quebec, March 5 (AP).—Ten persons lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the home of Thomas Chiche in the parish of St. Marie de Beauport last night. Mrs. Chiche died in a vain attempt to rescue some of her eight children who were trapped in the blazing house.

Chiche and his wife dashed from the house in their night clothing to give the alarm. He tried to resuscitate the dwelling but was driven back by the flames. Mrs. Chiche climbed through a window and was not seen again.

Charles Chiche, father of Thomas, was sleeping on the top floor of the building and was believed to have been suffocated in his sleep. White neighbors combed the smoldering ruins this morning for the ten bodies, investigators held the theory that an overheated furnace was responsible for the fire.

At the meeting of the Junior C. E. Society on Thursday afternoon at four o'clock, Mary E. Matthews will be the leader.

The topic of the prayer meeting on Thursday evening is, "What is it to be a Christian?" The service begins promptly at half past seven.

Sunday, March 12, is to be observed among Baptist churches throughout the world as the four hundredth anniversary of the martyrdom of Balthasar Hubmaier, the leader of the Anabaptists in Central Europe at the time of the Reformation. The pastor will speak on the life and work of Hubmaier this coming Sunday at the morning service. The topic of the evening sermon will be "The New Birth."

Around Orchard

PRUNING FRUIT TREES IN WINTER

Numb fingers, freezing ears, and cold feet are unavoidable features of the job of pruning fruit trees in winter. But the orchardist who goes ahead with the job anyhow, will reap his reward in increased yield of better fruit next year. Horticultural specialists in the extension service of the Ohio State university recommend that the pruning be done as soon as apples are harvested, and continue until the job is done. But if it has been interrupted or postponed, it should be done in the winter and not put off until the milder weather of spring. Before the orchardist realizes it, time for the dormant spray will arrive, and the pruning will be abandoned for that.

Pruning is necessary on several counts. Trees which are too dense cannot be well sprayed; production is increased by proper pruning, as is the quality of the fruit; picking fruit is easier and cheaper in a well pruned orchard.

Winter pruning, while all right for the apple trees, is somewhat dangerous for the grapes and peaches. If the weather is severe, and the fruit men at Ohio State university recommend that the grower of grapes and peaches wait until after the severe portion of the winter has passed, before beginning on them. Damage to the trees may occur if they are pruned during very cold weather.

The main idea, in any case, is to get the pruning done before spring work interferes and leaves the orchard shaggy, unkempt, inconvenient and with lowered production.

Plow Under All Cherry Leaves to Avoid Disease

Fallen leaves in the cherry orchard are the chief source of infection of the destructive leaf spot disease which defoliate so many cherry trees in the early summer, according to the New York experiment station at Geneva. These leaves should be removed by plowing them under, either in the fall or early spring, before the diseased organism can be transmitted to the new leaves, says this authority.

Removing the chief source of infection by plowing under the leaves is the first step in the successful control of cherry leaf spot. Plans should be made, however, for following this up with a lime-sulphur spray to be applied just as the petals fall in the spring and again about two weeks later. A third application is sometimes made to good advantage shortly after the fruit is harvested.

If the leaves dropped from the trees early in the summer this past year, proper measures should be taken to combat the disease during next season. Repeated shedding of the leaves early in the summer for season after season, greatly weakens the trees and will eventually kill them.

Soap Will Keep Rabbits Away From Young Trees

To protect young trees from rabbits, we melt laundry soap and make it into a thick jelly, and on a day when the sun shines brightly and there is a little air, if possible, wash these trees up to a height above the rabbits' reach. We pull the soap back just a little and wash down, then put the soap back, says a writer in the Farm Journal. If the job is done thoroughly, positively no rabbits will bother the trees. Besides, this treatment gives the bark of trees a healthy look. Don't let hogs run in orchard after soaping or they will peel the bark off. For that matter, hogs should not be allowed to run in any young orchard.

If it rains a lot, repeat the soap wash in the middle of winter for protection, but I've never seen this treatment fail where used but once.

Propagating Cherry Trees by Budding Is Favored

Cherry trees are usually propagated by budding rather than by grafting. On large limbs of bearing trees top-grafting would be more successful than budding, and it should be done in early spring, just before the buds begin to run or the buds develop. Both the sweet and sour cherries are commonly worked on the Mazzard or the Mahaleb stock, the former being the better, but the latter is harder. There is no reason why you should not be able to graft the black cherry to the red variety, but it is possible that the union may not be a strong one in this particular case. Cherry trees grow quickly by budding on the Mazzard seedling stock, and it is possible that you could obtain some of these from a local nurseryman for spring planting and then do the budding during late June or July.

Vineyard Chore

A vineyard chore which should have attention in the early spring is the repair of the grape trellises. Missing staples should be replaced, though not driven so tightly as to pinch the wires, and the wires tightened. Loose posts should be firmed down and rotted ones be replaced. The strain due to heavy growth and the pressure of winds are great on the trellis in a good vineyard and much fruit may be saved by caring for it. Canes usually are tied with square or granny knots.
